

A Leprechaun's Poem

I'm a wee leprechaun and I've lost my way.
While chasing four-leaf clovers, from home I did stray.

Would you please help me by letting me stay?

I promise no trouble, at least not today.

You see I'm a leprechaun and like to play tricks.

Don't worry, not mean ones,

but you'll need to be quick!

You won't always see me,

but you'll know where I've been,

as I love to play pranks and games I can win.

I'll leave things behind so you'll know it was me.

The color green, rainbows, and gold you will see.

I'm good at hiding, sneaking sweets, and having fun.

My surprises are really never quite done.

Just wait and see and you'll soon agree.

We'll have so much fun, great friends we will be!

If it's a blast, I'll be sure to come again.

Same time next year, my new-found friend?

So back to the fun! Let's Go! Hee Hee Hee!

The first game for you is to try to catch me!

Love,
Blarney

(Your new friend from the end of the rainbow)
